New Mural Revealed in Eden
By Randy Hunt, Eden Main Street Manager

Eden citizens and public art supporters gathered on November 8, 2019 for the official unveiling of a new mural at the Washington Street Park located at the intersection of Henry and Washington Streets in Historic Downtown Eden. Cold temperatures did not hamper the crowd of about 100 that assembled in and around the park. Eden Mayor Neville Hall addressed the assembly, speaking of the importance of public art in communities. He was followed by artist Brandon Hardison, who with the help of his wife, Amy Chan, painted the mural. Next, Main Street manager Randy Hunt spoke. He explained the project was requested on behalf of Eden Citizens, promoted through the Positively Eden Strategic Planning Commission and ultimately supported by City Council.

The mural encompasses imagery that you will recognize, some immediately and others that are more subtle. You will see representation of the many sections of Eden featuring logos created by the city's 2017 branding study. This mural embraces Eden's natural beauty, its sense of

Winterfest 2019

On Saturday, December 7, 2019, from 5:00pm-8:00pm the 2nd Annual Winterfest will take place at Grogan Park on the grounds of Eden City Hall, 308 E. Stadium Drive, Eden, NC. The event will include Santa Claus, special characters, a balloon ice castle, outdoor movie, inflatable slide and a neighborhood holiday light tour. The first-ever Who's Who of Chili contest will take place as well.

Refreshments include hot chocolate, warm cider, s'mores bar and more. Rockingham County Schools have been creating baskets to raffle off at the event. Last year's raffle included fifteen high quality baskets assembled by individual schools. They included
